

Parochial Register, Co. of Argyll, COLONSAY

Christenings 1796 - 1855

Transcribed by Kevin Byrne, Colonsay, from Microfilm of OPR 539-2/1, with invaluable assistance of Norman Newton, Inverness County Libraries, in December 1996. Tom Parkin has patiently checked much of the material and corrected a number of errors. This is a private copy for personal research use, not for publication.

This version corrected to 01 April 2003

N.B. Words underlined are uncertain

Words Emboldened have been confirmed by cross-reference

Words Italicised have been submitted by a third-party

Words in [square brackets] are hints to researchers

Every attempt has been made to copy exact spelling in the original. Dates of entries are in a standard form - years are reasonably firm but the margins of the microfilmed pages are very dark and it is likely that one or two actual dates will need to be corrected. It is suggested that this text be used as a reference tool and that the actual source be re-examined to confirm any specific entry.

Please advise Kevin Byrne of any errors noted. No attempt has been made to correct original errors, nor to interfere with original spelling; it should be noted that some unusual names are phonetic e.g. "McInvin" is MacIonnhuinn, modern MacKinnon. The name "McCaldred" appears in varied guise, McCannell is McConnell, Bue is Buie. Note, for example, Mary McGobhan married in 1803, became "Smith" when christening a child in 1809. "Macilevorche" is modern Currie.

Some placenames are no longer used. "Buthbeg" is beside Dunan nan Con; Achadh nan Daraich is above Milbuie; North Muir adjoins Beinn a' Tuath. For further details of these or other locations, please contact Kevin Byrne.

Note that dates are for Baptism – actual date of birth would be rather earlier. The minister visited Colonsay only three or four times a year until 1832 and in any case baptism was, in many cases, something of an after-thought. In some cases, reference to later census returns might help to confirm the year-of-birth.

In both 1821 and 1824, boys were christened "Finlay"; could one of them be "Finlay of Colonsay, stalker to Campbell of Islay", whose 1847 photographic portrait hangs in the National Portrait Gallery?
